Hard water is the result of a combination of dissolved calcium and magnesium. These minerals cause soap scum and water spots on fixtures, and can greatly shorten the lifespan of common appliances. Hard water frequently necessitates 20-30% more energy to heat water, and 3 to 4 times more soap detergent for cleaning and laundry.

CSI PROBLEM CAUSE/EFFECT/ REMEDY GUIDE

PROBABLE CAUSE	GENERAL EFFECT	PROBABLE REMEDY
HARDNESS (calcium & magnesium)	Scale in pipes and water heaters; cause "soap curd" on fixtures, tile, dishes & laundry	Ion exchange softener
IRON/MANGANESE	Discolored water, dark scale	Low level (2ppm) removal by ion exchange softener when hardness is also present; best removed by oxidizing iron filter, aeration and/or chlorination followed by filtration
IRON/MANGANESE/ SULFUR BACTERIA	Same as above, plus slimy deposits	Low level removal possible by chlorination followed by filtration
HYDROGEN SULFIDE GAS	Rotten egg odor, corrosion	Best removed by aeration, scrubbing & filtration; also removed by oxidizing filters or chlorination followed by filtration
TURBIDITY	Suspended matter in water	Backwashing sediment filters; extra fine treatment utilizing sediment cartridge elements
ACID WATER (low pH)	Corrosive water/green staining	Neutralizing filters or soda ash feeding
TASTE/ODOR/COLOR (organic matter)	Unpalatable water. Staining	Depending on the nature of contaminant, aeration followed by filtration; carbon filtration chlorination followed by filtration
TANNINS/HUMIC ACID	"iced tea" color water, light staining, affect taste in food & water	Special Ion exchange or oxidizing agents & filtration
COLIFORM BACTERIA	Serious disease & intestinal disorders	Chlorination & filtration; iodination, ozonation & ultraviolet treatment
ORGANIC HALIDES (e.g. Herbicides & Pesticides)	Serious disease and/or poisoning	Absorption with carbon filters; or hydrolysis & Oxidation
NITRATES/CHLORIDES & SULFATES	Health-related problems	Special Ion exchange, deionization process or reverse Osmosis
